

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

The feeling of one's own nothingness is a light to the Christian, because it makes him aware of his own impotence and nothingness before every good, and of the power of Christ who does and can do all things in him. This feeling, and the light of Christ which shines from it, is the origin, the first and summary cause of Christian humility, which is the foundation and condition of the virtues of the followers and disciples of our Saviour.

- Blessed Antonio Rosmini

Next Week's Gospel Reading Twenty-Fifth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Luke 16:1-13

Jesus told his disciples: "There was a rich man whose manager was accused of wasting his possessions. So he called him in and asked him, 'What is this I hear about you? Give an account of your management, because you cannot be manager any longer.'

"The manager said to himself, 'What shall I do now? My master is taking away my job. I'm not strong enough to dig, and I'm ashamed to beg— I know what I'll do so that, when I lose my job here, people will welcome me into their houses.' [...] "Whoever can be trusted with very little can also be trusted with much, and whoever is dishonest with very little will also be dishonest with much. So if you have not been trustworthy in handling worldly wealth, who will trust you with true riches? And if you have not been trustworthy with someone else's property, who will give you property of your own?"

"No one can serve two masters. Either you will hate the one and love the other, or you will be devoted to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve both God and money."
